IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA DEIDRA HUBAY, et al. Plaintiff, vs. JANELLE MARINA MENDEZ, et al.
Defendant.

2:19-cv-01327-NR

MEMORANDUM ORDER Defendants Janelle Marina Mendez, Pamela Heal, and the Military Sexual Trauma Movement move to vacate the defaults against them. [ECF No. 17; No. 8; No. 12]. For the following reasons, the Court will grant their motion.

I. BACKGROUND Plaintiffs Deirdra Hubay, Robert Losieniecki, Jessica Dorantes, and Alexis Gabrielle Herrick filed this lawsuit on October 17, 2019. [ECF No. 1]. Plaintiffs are former volunteers for the Military Sexual Trauma Movement, a non-profit organization that lobbies government officials Id. at ¶ 12. Plaintiffs resigned from the group based on their disagreement with its tactics. Id. at ¶ 13. Now, they allege that Defendants violated copyright law, invaded their privacy, and inflicted emotional distress by using their photographs, names, and likenesses to promote the group after they had revoked any consent for Defendants to do so. Id. at ¶¶ 43-83. Plaintiffs served Defendants Mendez and the Military Sexual Trauma Movement with the complaint and summons on October 29, 2019. [ECF No. 5]. Plaintiffs then served Defendant Heal on November 11, 2019. [ECF No. 7]. Despite being served, Defendants did not answer the complaint within the 21 days required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(a)(1)(A). Plaintiffs thus requested that the Clerk of Court enter default against Ms. Mendez and the Military Sexual Trauma Movement on November 21, 2019 [ECF No. 6], and against Ms. Heal on December 4, 2019. [ECF No. 11]. The Clerk did so on November 22, 2019 and December 5, 2019, respectively. [ECF No. 8; No. 12]. Counsel for Defendants moved for pro hac vice admission on December 10, 2019, which the Court granted the next day. [ECF No. 15; No. 16]. Defendants then moved to vacate the Clerk's entries of default on January 2, 2020. [ECF No. 17]. Defendants have not yet answered the complaint, but have provided the ECF No. 22-1].

II. DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS -established policy of disfavoring default Husain v. Casino Control Comm'n, 265 F. App'x 130, 133 (3d Cir. 2008) (internals omitted). Additionally, Phoenix Ins. Co. v. Small, 307 F.R.D. 426, 433 (E.D. Pa. 2015). Thus, the decision to vacate an entry of default (or not) is largely left to the Court's discretion. Harad v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co., 839 F.2d 979, 982 (3d Cir. 1988);

Small, 307 F.R.D. at 433.

That said, the mere filing of a motion does not automatically justify vacating an otherwise valid entry of default. See United States v. $55,518.05 in U.S. Currency, 728 F.2d 192, 196 (3d Cir. 1984). Before doing so, the Court must consider (1) whether the plaintiff will be prejudiced; (2) whether the defendant has a meritorious defense; and (3) whether the default resulted from the defendant's culpable conduct. Id. at 195. The Court may also consider the effectiveness of Sourcecorp Inc. v. Croney, 412 F. App'x 455, 459 (3d Cir. 2011).

Here, the Court will set aside the entries of default for three reasons: Prejudice. First, Plaintiffs would not be uniquely prejudiced if the Court sets the default aside. In this context, the costs associated with Sourcecorp Inc., 412 F. App'x at 459 (internals omitted); Emcasco Ins. Co. v. Sambrick, 834 F.2d 71, 74 (3d Cir. 1987) action on a claim rarely serves to establish the degree of prejudice sufficient to prevent the opening [of] a

Aside from the normal burdens imposed by vacating any default, the Court discerns no serious prejudice that Plaintiffs would face. Plaintiffs' concern that took posts on social media is not prejudicial, at least in this context. [ECF No. 20 at p. 5]. Prejudice here occurs if a such as through the loss of evidence. See Dizzley v. Friends Rehab. Program, Inc., 202 F.R.D. 146, 147-48 (E.D. Pa. 2001) he prejudice requirement compels plaintiffs to demonstrate that the plaintiff's claim would be materially impaired because of the loss of evidence, an increased potential for fraud or collusion, substantial reliance on the entry of default, or other substantial factors. here, and no showing that those few months impaired Plaintiffs' ability to prove their case.

Meritorious Defense. Second, Defendants have presented defenses that are meritorious enough to avoid default. It is true that the Court need not vacate a default when there is no potential Sourcecorp Inc., 412 F. App'x at 460. But this standard is very low. See, e.g., id. presentation of potential defenses is thin at best. , we think the Crones' assertions that individual transfers of money were not fraudulent, but rather reasonable payments for services actually rendered, are barely sufficient[.]

Defendants argue that they have a meritorious defense because Plaintiffs in question to Defendants knowing that they their website and social media. [ECF No. 17-1 at ¶ 28]. Defendants also say that Plaintiffs signed consent forms. Id. at ¶ 31. While the scope and merit of these defenses will turn on discovery, or perhaps the admissions in Defendants' answer, they are not facially meritless. Plaintiffs' legal and factual objections to those defenses, based largely on what they , prevail. [ECF No. 20 at pp. 2-5]. But those issues are better adjudicated through a motion for summary judgment or judgment on the pleadings after Defendants have indeed , or after the record evidence has established certain facts as undisputed. That Plaintiffs believe the Court can swiftly resolve this case based only on Defendants' admissions or limited discovery favors resolution on the merits.

Culpable Conduct. Third, Defendants' failure to answer was not clearly the result of culpable conduct.

this Circuit is the willfulness or bad faith of a non- Hritz v. Woma Corp., 732 F.2d 1178, 1182 (3d Cir. 1984) (internals omitted). Here, while Defendants should have timely answered the complaint, and while Plaintiffs were well-within their rights to request a default, the Court sees no indication that Defendants sought to prolong or obstruct these proceedings. The Court credits defense counsel s sworn representation that Defendants were delayed in obtaining counsel because of their limited resources, and that counsel was attempting in good faith to settle the case behind the scenes to avoid further litigation. [ECF No. 17-1]. While not strictly excusable, this explanation is enough to justify vacating the default.

III. ORDER AND NOW, this 31 st day of January, 2020, upon consideration of Defendants motion to vacate the Clerk s entries of default and for the reasons stated above, it is hereby ORDERED that Defendants motion is GRANTED.

The Court thus vacates the Clerk s entries of default [ECF No. 8; No. 12]. Defendants shall answer the complaint by February 4, 2020, and the upcoming default judgment hearing will now be an initial case management conference. DATE: January 31, 2020 BY THE COURT: /s/ J. Nicholas Ranjan
